

Global Teacher Institute

Teach With Africa (US) and the LEAP Science and Maths School (South Africa) announce the development of the LEAP/TWA Global Teacher Institute. The Institute directly addresses the educational needs of underserved communities by actively transforming the teaching practice and expertise of young teachers and future leaders.

Teach With Africa and LEAP believe that education, when used as an intervention, is the most effective vehicle to achieve educational, communal and social systemic change within the South African and global landscapes.

In addition to actively facilitating the development of teachers' instructional practice, the Teacher Institute aims to develop teachers into self-reflective, well-rounded, structured, insightful, motivated professionals.

Our approach to teacher development is experiential and engaging. We believe that the 21st century effective teacher needs to be innovative and creative, so that all student needs are addressed through differentiated instruction. We envision a South Africa in which the most vulnerable of its society is awarded what is rightfully theirs: sustainable access to high quality education that will develop youth academically and beyond.

HOW YOU CAN HELP | Resources for Tomorrow

Through donors like you, Teach With Africa raises funds for the recruitment and placement of experienced educators in LEAP/TWA Global Teacher Institute programs in underserved schools and community centers – serving more than 1,500 students and adults – supporting academic programs, educational leadership initiatives, and community development training.

Every gift made in support of the organization is an investment in educational programs for the global community of children that we seek to serve.
